There will be preaching at Flat Rock Church on the next fourth Sunday at 11 o'clock a.m. The members of the Church are requested to be present, as there is business of importance to be attended to. The family of Mr. W. A. Watt was visited last Friday by the angel of death, who took the spirit of little Della. Two other children are now very sick. Dr. Scudday is kept very busy visiting the sick, and seems to be quite successful. We heard a colored man say last week hat if he had one more bushel of corn he could make out, especially as blackberries have come in. Farmers should save the briars, if they are not too much in the way. They are a valuable crop. Last week was quite a busy one with the farmers, as wheat was ready for hervesting. We could hear the clattering of the reaper on one side and the whetting of the scythe blade on the other; all hands were at their posts, some pulling the hoes and some driving the plows, as it is necessary to stir the crop after a heavy rain. All are hopeful of an abundant harvest, and if the seasons continue we think they will not be disappointed. There is a great deal of sick ness in this community, mostly children.

Mr. William Gest, of Texas, is now in our midst, visiting relatives and friends. Mr. E. B. Hall has the finest piece of pland corn that we have seen. The friends of Mrs. Clemintine Hall

Prohibition is the topic of the day. Some of the anties argue that if prohibition carries that the man who owns no large congregation of the relatives and land will not be allowed to vote, as they were not allowed to sign the petition for an election. They forget that it was the anties who objected to their signing the petition. We think this a flimsy argument.
